Additional Research and Scholarship Opportunities & Resources

CFRI Research Education Video Library

The Child & Family Research Institute offers public education events on various topics in health research throughout the year. Video records of past education events, including Mini Med School and Research Week public lectures are available for online viewing. These may be of interest to students who are unable to attend the education events.

UBC College of Health Disciplines: Online Student Journal – Call for Submissions

Deadline: May 16, 2014

The Health Professional Student Journal (HPSJ) is a new online student-run journal (launching in April 2014) created to advance the practice of healthcare in a changing world. Our mission is to advance interprofessional education, research and knowledge exchange by engaging students to learn and work together in a non-intimidating and supporting environment.

- THE HPSJ accepts all types of papers (class papers, essays, interviews, reflections, experiences, etc.) from any Health and Human Service program.
- Papers must be less than 2000 words
