Funding Opportunities and Awards

American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics Summer Undergraduate Research Fellow

Deadline: Feb 1, 2019

The American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics (ASPET) will be offering a Summer Undergraduate Research Fellow Award. This award is open to undergraduate students interested in pharmacology research. Successful applicants will receive a stipend of $2,800 for a minimum of 10 weeks participation in the program and must submit a report at the end of their research. Applicants must have a mentor who is a regular member of ASPET in good standing. Please visit the website for further details.

Health Innovations Scholars Program

Deadline: March 1, 2019

The Health Innovations Scholars program funds eight pre-clinical medical students to participate in an intensive training program to lead innovative transformation of American healthcare. Participants will receive a stipend of $2,000. Note that students travelling from Canada may not be fully funded for travel as the program has limited resources. Please visit the website for further information.

UBC Centre for Blood Research Summer Studentship Program

Deadline: General Application – April 1, 2019; Applications without PI or PDF – March 15, 2019

The Centre for Blood Research (CBR) offers summer studentship awards to provide MD and non-MD undergraduate (2nd year and up) students with an opportunity to gain lab experience under the supervision of a CBR Postdoctoral Fellow (PDF) or Principal Investigator (PI). Students unable to find a supervisor may apply through a general application by March 15; the deadline for students with a supervisor is April 1. Successful applicants are offered a stipend of $5,000 and must participate in all CBR-organized summer events. Visit the website for more information.

Additional Research and Scholarship Opportunities & Resources

Hatching Health

Application due: January 26, 2019; Event: March 1-3, 2019

The Great Hatch medical innovation event is a 24hr hackathon which focuses on the collaboration of medical professionals, health-care workers, designers, engineers, and other related fields towards solutions related to the health and medical field. During the hatching weekend, participants have the opportunity to engage in networking, mentorship, brainstorming, problem-solving, and prototyping.

Participants can apply by submitting this form by January 26, 2019 @ 11:59PM. Individuals will be selected based on merit and enthusiasm in the following categories: passion, skills, experiences, and knowledge.

UBC Library Resources

The UBC Library offers a variety of resources that students can take advantage of. These include support in planning your research, finding, evaluating and citing sources and even publishing your research. Coming up are workshops that cover abstract writing and literature review, and those can be found by accessing the library's website. The library consistently adds workshops and other development opportunities to their calendar, and their newsletter features upcoming events. For more information, please visit the website hyperlinked above.

Otolaryngology/ENT Medical Student Interest Group

The University of British Columbia's Division of Otolaryngology is inviting students to apply for research positions and to learn more about the field. Lower Mainland otolaryngologists have put together a list of research opportunities looking for interested medical students. Each project will place a student with a Principle Investigator. Both presentations and publications could be pursued and are encouraged. Visit the website for more details.
